Professional Profile

David practices primarily in the area of complex business disputes; has extensive experience in class action work in state and federal court; counsels clients on how to avoid business disputes; and deals with issues of board governance and fiduciary duty claims. He has experience in federal MDL litigation including class action, securities litigation, and products liability. He has tried cases before the majority of federal judges in Kansas City, Missouri, and regularly tries cases in Jackson County, Missouri. He also has experience in temporary restraining order/preliminary injunction proceedings in state and federal court in Missouri and Kansas. He works regularly with lawyers from other parts of the country whose clients have litigation in Missouri and Kansas.

He is currently serving as chairman of the management committee of the firm. Nick DiVita and Jim Eisenbrandt also serve on the management committee. The firm's philosophy is to manage efficiently so that we are all actively practicing law and serving clients.

His civic activities include serving as a board member of the Arts Council of Metropolitan Kansas City and the Johnson County Arts Council; board member of the Kansas City Repertory Theatre; and board member of the Alliance for Childhood Education. He is on the board of The Francis Family Foundation and is a trustee of the Murphy Charitable Fund.
