

U.S. ENGINEERING COMPANY HOLDINGS

Mechanical Contractor Since 1893

Tyler Nottberg is Chairman & CEO of U.S. Engineering Company, one of the nation's largest and most successful mechanical construction firms, headquartered in Kansas City, Missouri. He is the fifth generation of the Nottberg family to lead U.S. Engineering, where he previously served as a Project Manager and as a Vice President. Prior to joining U.S. Engineering, Tyler was Vice President of Legal, Economic and Regulatory Affairs for Gerson Lehrman Group, a financial research firm based in New York, where he helped establish offices in Washington, DC, London and Delhi. Before that, he worked as a Policy Analyst at The Eisenhower Institute and for Senator Richard Lugar (R-IN), both in Washington, DC and on the Senator's 1996 Presidential Campaign. He serves on the Board of Directors for UMB Bank and Labconco Corporation, as well as a number of non-profit Boards, including Colorado Succeeds, The American Heart Association, American Royal, Kansas University Hospital's Advancement Board, and the Board of Trustees for Donnelly College. He is also a founder of the Aligned, an exclusive group of business leaders committed to improving the education systems in Kansas and Missouri.

Tyler is a graduate of Middlebury College and of Oxford University, where he was a Keasbey Scholar. He is also a LEED® Accredited Professional. He and his wife, Leigh, live in Kansas City with their two children, Maggie and Andrew.